We’ve lived in Utah for 21 years now. During those years, my [REDACTED] has suffered from [REDACTED], for which dirty air is a significant and ongoing trigger. I won’t lie — it’s been hell. I know that unhealthy air is a significant factor in many health problems.

Clean air is absolutely critical to our health and quality of life. We beg you to please see that policies are passed which will improve our air quality. And if the Trump administration chooses to erase all regulations, please see that Utah implements the cleanest air policies possible.

Please use all your influence and your creativity to find solutions! Yes, solutions require social adjustments. But surely we can figure out creative ways and new approaches to foster better health for all!

Sincerely,
Camille Baker
