

The 2017 area source inventory should be considered preliminary and some categories are comprised of 2014 data projected to 2017 as some EPA emission estimate tools are still being developed. Further, not all the point sources are subtracted at this time which will result in some overlap while EPA data is forthcoming. Data are subject to change until EPA final tools are released and can be incorporated into the inventory.

Ping Xi

22-Aug-19