Environmental Permits

You are eligible to participate in Clean Utah if you are governed by federal, state, or local environmental regulations.

For a Small Business:

In some cases, small businesses are exempted from permit requirements because of the size of the operation. They may still be required to meet certain federal or state environmental regulations, such as record keeping and pollution prevention steps.

Let us know, in the space below, which environment regulations apply to you and what steps you take to assure your operation meets applicable requirements.

Compliance Eligibility Requirement

Clean Utah seeks to reward those who are willing to go beyond what is required by rule or statute to prevent or reduce pollution. You are eligible to participate provided you:

- have not been in Significant Noncompliance of Drinking Water, Water Quality, or Hazardous Waste regulations, had a High Priority Violation of Air Quality regulations, had a Severity Level I, II, or III Violation of Radiation Control regulations, or any equivalent violation of any state, federal, or local environmental regulation in the past year and you have not had a total of three such violations in the past three years;
- have not had any criminal violation of environmental regulations for the past five years and are not currently the focus of an environmental criminal investigation.
- have no other open or unresolved violation(s).

Have you continued to meet the compliance eligibility requirement? /__ / Yes /__ / No

Note:

Compliance history and status will be determined by the appropriate DEQ program(s), in consultation with EPA and the Local Health Department.

Environmental Management System (EMS)

To be considered for this Tier, you need to have had an Environmental Management System or EMS for one full or continual cycle. Several EMS models currently exist and you can select a model that best meets your circumstances, provided it meets all the components outlined in the Clean Utah policy. DEQ or its designee reserves the right to request documentation of the EMS and/or to make site visits for verification. Complete the EMS worksheet. Then, answer the following questions:

- Does your company have, in place, an EMS for the facility or facilities requesting the Clean Utah Partner Level designation?

Note

The granting of incentives is at the discretion of DEQ, based on site-specific conditions, the strength of the proposed environmental projects, and the ability of the applicable DEQ program to provide the requested incentive.

Environmental Improvement Projects

Partner Level participants are required to work on two projects designed to significantly reduce or prevent pollution. “Significant” will be determined by considering your size, your industry sector, and your previous environmental improvement efforts.

Proposed projects cannot be work that is already required - by statute, rule, or as part of a settlement agreement. Wherever possible, your projects should be based on environmental aspects identified in your EMS. At least one of the two projects should benefit a Core area listed in the Clean Utah policy.

Include with this application, an outline of your proposed projects. Submit a separate write up for each project. Make the proposal brief and succinct while clearly addressing the areas below. As you prepare your proposal, keep in mind that it will be considered by the Public Interest Review Panel as part of the approval process and that it will be part of the Clean Utah public record. Therefore, it is recommended that you provide enough information to justify your proposal but do NOT submit proprietary or confidential information.

1. Begin with an introductory statement outlining your project. Tell us:
 - what you plan to accomplish;
 - how you plan to do it; and
 - why you consider your project “significant” and beyond what is required in statute.
2. Identify whether this is a Core or a Suggested project and which area it falls within. (See Clean Utah policy pages 6 and 7).
3. From your EMS, identify the environmental aspect or aspect(s) you are seeking to improve and why. Tell us how Utah’s environment will benefit from your actions.
4. Tell us how you plan to monitor and/or measure your progress.
5. Complete the following for each indicator. Be specific:
 - Targeted Indicator:
 - Baseline year:
 - Baseline total (indicate amount):
 - Targeted reduction (indicate amount):
 - Annual reduction: (indicate amount):
 - Target year to reach this goal:
6. Identify any permits or special considerations you may need to do this project.
7. Tell us how you plan to meet the public participation requirement. (See Clean Utah policy page 9)
8. Any other information clarifications you want us to consider.
