Radiation Control Board Seeks Applicants

Salt Lake City, Utah – The Utah Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) encourages qualified members of the public to apply for a term on the Radiation Control Board (RCB).

Six members have terms set to expire by July 1. The 13-member board is appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate and meets on the first Tuesday of each month to consider issues that effect uranium mills, medical X-ray users, radioactive waste disposal and those who use radioactive materials for commercial, research and industrial purposes.

The Board is structured so there is balanced representation from industry, academia, government and the public at large. Members can serve two four-year terms.

New applicants are requested for the following Board membership:

Elected county official.

Health Physicist or other professional employed in the field of radiation safety Physician.

Three members of the general public, at least one of whom represents organized environmental interest..

All appointed members are expected to be knowledgeable about radiation protection.

Interested individuals can apply on line at: <http://www.governor.utah.gov/boards/home.html>. For more information about the Radiation Control Board, visit: <http://www.radiationcontrol.utah.gov/Board/index.htm>.
