

ENVIRONMENTAL RESPONSE
& REMEDIATION

PUBLIC NOTICE of COMPLETION
Five-Year-Review of Jacobs Smelter Superfund Site
Stockton, Tooele County, Utah

Summary: Fourth Five-Year Review Completed

The Utah Department of Environmental Quality and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Region 8 has completed the fourth Five-Year Review for the Jacobs Smelter Superfund Site. Five-year reviews are required by the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA) when hazardous substances remain on site above levels that permit unrestricted use and unlimited exposure. Five-Year reviews are conducted to evaluate the site remedy and to determine whether site conditions remain protective of human health and the environment.

Protectiveness Statement: The remedy at OU1 is currently protective of human health and the environment because targeted residential yards have been remediated and the ICs are functioning as intended. The removal action at OU2 is currently protective of human health and the environment in areas where removals have been completed. The removal action at OU3 is currently protective of human health and the environment because targeted residential yards have been remediated and the cap, vegetative cover, and ICs are functioning as intended. The removal action at OU4 is currently protective of human health and the environment because targeted residential yards have been remediated and the remaining lead contaminated soils are not accessible. This Five-Year Review Report was signed September 23, 2019.
