Financial Assurance Guidance

This guidance is not a rule. It has been prepared to give the reader information, in plain language, about how the Division of Waste Management and Radiation Control expects to interpret Rule R315-309. In the event questions arise regarding the matters discussed in this guidance, the text of the rule will govern.

Introduction

An owner or operator of any solid waste disposal facility requiring a permit is required to establish financial assurance for the cost of closure; post-closure care; and corrective action when corrective action is required. Facilities that are operated by the federal government and by the State of Utah are not required to meet the financial assurance requirement.

The amount of financial assurance required is the cost required for the state of Utah to hire a third party to conduct the activities of closure and post-closure care. The amount of the financial assurance required is based on the cost estimate for closure or post-closure care, or both that is submitted and approved as part of the permit application. Financial assurance for corrective action is based on the cost estimate that is made at the time the action is approved by the Director of the Utah Division of Waste Management and Radiation Control (Director). Cost estimates must be updated annually in the annual report that must be submitted by March 1st of each year. The annual update must account for inflation.

If changes in the design of the facility have been made subsequent to the last cost adjustment, a complete recalculation of the closure and post-closure costs must be made. Costs may be increased or reduced through design changes, operational changes, or partial closure.

The update provided in the annual report must reflect the closure and post-closure care cost changes (inflation adjusted or recalculated) and the financial assurance amount must be modified to reflect the new estimate. Changes in the cost estimates and in the financial assurance amount must be approved by the Director before they are effective.

Solid waste facility permits are issued for 10 years. However, the financial assurance must be updated by recalculation during the fifth year of the permit life (R315-311-1(4)(b)). This update must be a recalculation of the closure and post-closure costs not just an inflation adjustment.

Inflation Adjustment

Landfill owners or operators must annually adjust their final closure and post-closure costs for inflation or facility modifications that would affect closure or post-closure care costs (R315-309-2(2)). The following describes how to perform an inflation adjustment calculation using an inflation factor.

The inflation factor is derived from the most recent annual "Implicit Price Deflator for Domestic Product" published by the U.S. Department of Commerce in its Survey of Current Business. The current years inflation adjustment is calculated by the Division each year and is posted on the Division web page at <http://www.hazardouswaste.utah.gov/SWBranch/SWSection/SolidWasteSection.htm> and is found under the heading "Financial Assurance Inflation Adjustment."

The first annual adjustment should occur the first year after the permit is approved by the Director and each following year unless the actual closure costs are recalculated. The first adjustment should be made by multiplying the closure and post-closure care costs given in the permit application by the inflation factor. Subsequent adjustments should be made annually by multiplying the latest values for closure and post-closure care costs by the latest inflation factor. This process of adjustment should be utilized until the actual closure and post-closure care costs are recalculated. At the time of permit renewal and at the five year anniversary of the permit issuance the closure and post-closure care costs must be recalculated using the current approved design and current construction costs.

In developing cost estimates and annual updates, it may be helpful to enlist the assistance of contractors that could perform closure or post-closure activities. Selected contractors may be provided with specifications and assumptions and ask to develop the estimates based on your specifications. Copies of documentation of the contractors' estimates should be included in the permit application. A line-by-line review and calculation along with determination of the average cost for each item should be done based on each contractor's estimates.

If any corrective action program is anticipated during the post-closure period, contact DSHW for more information. A detailed cost estimate and additional financial assurance instrument are required for corrective action.

Release From Financial Assurance

The owner or operator of a facility may be released from financial assurance for the closure part of the closure and post-closure care requirement when the closure is complete and has been approved by the Director. Release from the post-closure care or corrective action financial assurance requirements occurs when the Director has determined that the facility has stabilized and is not a threat to human health or the environment or when the Director has determined that the approved corrective action levels have been met.

Financial Assurance Mechanisms

The Utah solid waste rules allow several different types of financial assurance mechanisms to be used to meet the requirements of the rule. Utah Administrative Code (UAC) R315-309 is the specific rule covering the types of financial assurance that can be used. This rule should be referred to for specific requirements. The following guidance is provided to help in understanding each mechanism but should not be used as a substitute for the rule.

Trust Fund

Trust funds are sums of money set aside to cover anticipated future costs (e.g., closure, post-closure care or corrective action) and are typically overseen by a trustee. The owner or operator would be the Grantor, with the trustee responsible for making payments from the trust under certain conditions. The trustee is required to manage the trust according to the terms of the trust agreement and in accordance with applicable state law. A copy of the trust agreement must be received and approved by the Director and placed in the facility's operating record. To ensure that the trust fund is properly managed the rule specifies that the trustee must have the authority to act as a trustee, and that the trustee's operations must be regulated and examined by a Federal or State agency.

Requirements for the use of a trust fund as a financial assurance mechanism are found in UAC R315-309-4. Anyone wishing to use this mechanism should refer to the rules, this guidance is meant only as a help in interpreting the requirements of the rule.

Although the owner or operator is the grantor of the trust, The Director controls the payment of funds from the trust. The Director can approve payments from the trust to the owner or operator, when they have completed closure or post-closure work, or, if the owner or operator is not able to conduct the required operation, the Director can authorize payment to a third party to do the work.

A local government that wishes to use a trust fund may find it cost effective to use the Utah Public Treasures' Investment Fund. If this option is one that meets the needs of the facility, please contact Utah Public Treasures' Investment Fund at 801/538-1042 for assistance.

While the wording of the trust is not specified in the rule, the trust should contain wording that is in compliance with the rule and achieves the intent of the rule. Wording of a trust agreement should specify that the trust is irrevocable (i.e., that the owner or operator may neither alter the terms of the trust agreement nor terminate the trust except with the written consent of the trustee) and might specify the types of investment policies that the trustee must follow in managing the trust. Trust wording must also state that withdrawal of funds cannot occur without approval of the Director and that the funds must be used for closure costs, post-closure care costs, or corrective action costs. A sample trust agreement that meets the requirements of the rule is contained in Exhibit G. The Division has worked with staff in the Utah Treasures office to draft a trust agreement that meets the requirements of the rule and does not need individual approval of the form by the Director. A sample trust agreement for the Utah Public Treasures' Investment Fund is contained in Exhibit A

Utah rules state that the trust fund must be fully funded by the end of the permit life or at the time of closure, whichever is less (Utah solid waste landfill permits are granted for a maximum of 10 years and post-closure care permits are granted for the life of the post-closure care period). Generally 10 years will be the maximum time allowed to fully fund the trust. The trust can be funded with one full payment or a number of payments spread over the period allowed in the permit for funding closure. If the trust is funded by a number of payments over the permit life, the amount of these payments is to be calculated using the following formula:

$$NextPayment = \frac{CE - CV}{Y}$$

where CE is the current closure and/or post-closure cost estimate (updated for inflation or other changes), CV is the current value of the trust fund (i.e., the value of the funds already paid into the trust), and Y is the number of years remaining in the pay-in period.

Recalculation of the trust fund payment is required when the cost estimate for the closure and post-closure care changes. Changes in the closure and post-closure costs and the annual payment to the fund are required to be reported in the annual report due on March 1st of each year. The annual report should contain the most recent cost estimates that have been calculated to reflect inflation and any changes in the landfill closure design or closure area.

The requirements for a corrective action trust fund differ somewhat from the requirements for a closure and post-closure care trust fund for two reasons:

- The size and duration of corrective action costs are significantly greater; and
- Corrective action financial assurance is required only upon the detection of a release while closure and post-closure financial assurance are required prior to the activities being undertaken.

Thus, to be structured like the trust fund for closure and post-closure care, which ensures that the trust is fully funded by the time that the funds are needed (i.e., by the time the facility closes), a trust fund for corrective action would need to be fully funded as soon as corrective action is triggered, which would pose an undue burden to nearly all owners or operators. To make the corrective action trust fund reasonable for owners and operators while ensuring that funds are available to complete corrective action, Utah rules allow an owner or operator to fund the trust gradually over the first half of the corrective action period in an amount that would ensure sufficient funds to cover the costs of corrective action incurred during the second half of the corrective action period.

The corrective action trust fund would therefore operate as follows. First, the corrective action trust fund pay-in period is one-half of the length of the corrective action period. Second, the required balance in a trust fund for corrective action at the end of the corrective action pay-in period must be sufficient to cover the remaining corrective action costs after the end of the pay-in period. For example, if corrective action will take place over a ten-year period, payments into this fund would start when corrective action begins and end in the fifth year. At the end of the fifth year, the amount of money in the trust fund would have to be sufficient to cover the corrective action costs estimated for the remaining five years of the corrective action period.

The trust fund for corrective action would be built up in a manner similar to that described for closure and post-closure care trust funds, with changes to accommodate the different pay-in period for trust funds for corrective action (as discussed above). The specific amount of the annual payments is to be calculated using the following formula:

$$NextPayment = \frac{RB - CV}{Y}$$

where RB is the most recent estimate of the required trust fund balance for corrective action (i.e., the total costs to be incurred during the second half of the corrective action period), CV is the current value of the trust fund, and Y is the number of years remaining in the pay-in period.

Because the trust fund involves setting aside an owner or operator's actual funds, the use of these funds by the owner or operator for closure and post-closure care operations, if not needed for corrective action, is allowed. The owner or operator would apply to the Director for release of funds upon proof of completion of the work.

Surety Bond (Guaranteeing Payment or Performance)

Requirements for the use of a surety bond as a financial assurance mechanism are found in UAC R315-309-5. Anyone wishing to use this mechanism should refer to the rules, this guidance is meant only as a help in interpreting the requirements of the rule.

A surety bond guarantees payment for, or performance of, closure, post-closure care, or corrective action if the holder of the bond (referred to in the bond as the Principle or commonly referred to as the facility owner or operator) fails to fulfill these obligations. The value or penal sum of the bond is for the total cost of closure, post-closure care or corrective action and includes any adjustments for inflation as required in the permit. A Surety Company (Surety) generally issues surety bonds. A copy of the bond must be placed in the facility's operating record. The bond must be submitted to the Director for approval.

To ensure that the surety bond provides an adequate guarantee of funds, the rule requires that the surety company issuing the bond be listed in Circular 570 of U.S. Department of the Treasury. Circular 570 is a list of surety companies that have been approved for writing construction bonds and other surety bonds for federal projects. The rule also requires that the bond must be issued in an amount equal to the cost estimates for closure, post-closure care or corrective action (unless multiple instruments are used as described below) and must be effective prior to the initial receipt of waste or by the date required in the permit, or, in the case of corrective action, within 120 days of the selection of the corrective action remedy. The rule also requires surety bonds to contain provisions preventing cancellation of the bond either by the surety, except with 120 days advance notification of cancellation to the owner or operator and to the Director, or by the owner or operator unless an alternate mechanism has been obtained.

While not required by the rule, the wording of surety bonds, used to demonstrate financial assurance, may follow the example in Exhibit B. Examples of both a payment and a performance bond are included in Exhibit B.

Payment Bond

Under the terms of a payment bond, the surety company issuing the bond promises to pay the costs of closure or post-closure care activities up to the amount of the bond (referred to in the bond as the penal sum) if the owner or operator is unable or unwilling to carry out those activities.

If the owner or operator is using a payment bond, which does not allow partial payments, to satisfy the financial assurance requirements, a standby trust fund must be established at the same time that the assurance mechanism is established. A more detailed discussion of standby trusts is provided below. A copy of the bond must be placed in the facility's operating record. The bond must be submitted to the Director for approval.

Performance Bond

With a performance bond, the surety company promises to either perform the required activities on behalf of the owner or operator or to contract with a third party to conduct the required activities.

Standby Trust for a Surety Bond

UAC R315-309-3(1)(c) requires the establishment of a standby trust fund to accompany a payment type surety bond unless partial payments are allowed. A standby trust fund serves as a depository for funds collected from the Surety. Standby trusts are necessary because Utah law requires payments to Divisions be deposited in the State

General Fund, unless otherwise indicated by statute. Funds cannot be earmarked for a specific use without approval of the Legislature. Therefore, to guarantee that the funds assured for a specific facility are directed to the costs of closure, post-closure care or corrective action for that site, a standby trust fund is necessary. The standby trust fund should be structured in a manner substantially similar to the trust fund described above.

An example of a Standby Trust to be used with a surety bond or a letter of credit is shown in Exhibit F.

Letter of Credit

The requirements for the use of letters of credit as a financial assurance mechanism are found in UAC R315-309-7. Anyone wishing to use this mechanism should refer to the rules, this guidance is meant only as a help in interpreting the requirements of the rule.

A standby letter of credit is an instrument issued by a bank or other financial institution that guarantees payment to the beneficiary, the State of Utah, if the owner or operator of the facility fails to perform certain obligations. Standby letters of credit differ from traditional commercial letters of credit in that standby letters of credit cannot be drawn upon unless a specified event occurs. An example of a letter of credit can be found in Exhibit C.

To ensure that the letter of credit provides secure funds for closure, post-closure care or corrective action for known releases, the rule requires that the financial institution issuing the letter of credit must be an institution with the authority to issue such a letter and whose letter-of-credit operations are regulated and examined by a Federal or State agency. These agencies would be the same agencies discussed above as having authority to regulate trustees, and would differ depending on the type of bank issuing the letter of credit.

The letter of credit, like the surety bond described above, must be issued in an amount equal to the closure, post-closure care, or corrective action cost estimates (unless multiple instruments are being used for financial assurance) and must be effective prior to initial receipt of waste, or on the date required in the permit, in the case of closure and post-closure care. In the case of corrective action, the letter of credit must be effective within 120 days of the selection of the corrective action remedy. The letter of credit must also contain provisions limiting cancellation similar to those described above for surety bonds.

As with a surety bond guarantee of payment, a standby letter of credit must have an accompanying standby trust into which the money from the letter of credit can be placed (see Exhibit F).

Letters of credit must be submitted to the Director and be approved. The letter of credit will be held by the Director and a copy of the letter will be placed in the operation record of the facility.

Insurance

Insurance is a contractual arrangement, called the policy, under which the insurer agrees to compensate the policyholder for losses. The purchase of insurance transfers the financial risk from the policyholder to the insurer. While insurance is generally considered most appropriate for coverage of contingent or unknown events, such as accidents or natural disasters, insurance is an allowable mechanism for assuring closure and post-closure care.

UAC R315-309-6 contains the requirements for the use of insurance as a financial assurance mechanism. Anyone wishing to use this mechanism should refer to the rules, this guidance is meant only as a help in interpreting the requirements of the rule. Exhibit D has an example of an insurance certificate.

The rule requires that the insurance policy be written to cover the full amount of the closure, post-closure care, or corrective action cost estimates (unless multiple instruments are being used). An insurance policy for closure or post-closure care must be in effect prior to the initial receipt of waste or on the date required in the permit and a copy of the insurance policy must be placed in the facility's operating record. The insurance policy must be submitted to and approved by Director.

The rule requires that insurers issuing policies used to demonstrate financial assurance for closure, post-closure care, or corrective action must, at a minimum, be licensed to transact the business of insurance, or be eligible to provide insurance as an excess or surplus lines insurer, in one or more States.

The rule specifies that insurance policies may be canceled by the insurer only for non-payment of premium and only 120 days after notice is sent to the owner or operator and to the Director. Owners and operators may cancel the policy if they have obtained a replacement mechanism or if they have been released from financial assurance requirements.

Local Government Financial Test

The local government financial test has been adopted to provide a cost effective way for a local government that owns or operates a landfill to assure that the landfill will be closed in a proper manner. A local government that uses the local government test is not assuring that the money needed to close the landfill is set aside, but is assuring that the local government has sufficient funds and stability that the closure funds can be obtained when needed.

Requirements for the local government test are found in UAC R315-309-8. Anyone wishing to use the local government test should refer to the rules, this guidance is meant only as a help in interpreting the requirements of the rules.

A local government wishing to use the test must meet several requirements. These include an investment grade bond rating or certain financial ratios, an unqualified financial statement, and certain other requirements.

Financial Tests

To use the local government financial test a local government must meet the requirements of a minimum bond rating or satisfy a financial ratio requirement. Only one of the requirements must be met.

The bond rating requirement is that the local government has an uninsured investment grade general obligation bond rating by either Moody's or Standard & Poor's. An uninsured general obligation bond rating is required because when insurance is used the rating is for the insurance company and not the local government. If the local government bonds are all insured but an uninsured rating can be shown, the Director may use this rating. The required ratings are as follows:

- The rating by Mood's must be Aaa, Aa, A or Baa. Moody's has broken the Baa rating down to Baa1, Baa2, and Baa3. All three subdivisions of the Baa rating are considered investment grade by Moody's and a rating of Baa3 or better will satisfy the requirements of the test.
- The Standard & Poor's rating must be AAA, AA, A, or BBB.

A local government that does not have any outstanding general obligation bonds, that has only insured bonds, that has bonds rated by a company other than Moody or Standard & Poor, or that only has unrated general obligation bonds, may qualify to use the financial test if it satisfies both a liquidity ratio and a debt service ratio. The ratios as found in UAC R315-309-8(2)(b) are:

- A ratio of cash plus marketable securities to total expenditures greater than or equal to 0.05; and
- A ratio of annual debt service to total expenditures less than or equal to 0.20.

The first ratio looks at the ability of the local government to fund the closure and post-closure care costs with current funds and the second ratio looks at the financial stability of the local government seeking to use the test.

Compliance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles

The local government financial statement must be prepared in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). This requirement should not be a problem for local governments in Utah as government financial statements are required by Utah law to meet this standard.

Limits on Local Government Test Use

The solid waste rules list several conditions that, if they exist, will disqualify a local government from using the test. In most cases these disqualifications are not open for review. Cases that allow for review and case specific approval by the Director are noted in the following discussion.

Bond Default or Low Bond Rating

If a local government is in default on any general obligation bonds it is not eligible to use the local government test. This is true even if it has a current bond rating that is above the standard or if the ratio test can be met.

A local government that has any outstanding bonds that are rated below the standard cannot use the local government test even if they can meet the ratios requirements. Although the current bond rating is used for the test, any existing bonds rated below the standard will cause disqualification.

Operating Deficit Limit

Whether a local government meets the bond rating requirement or the financial ratio alternative, it is disqualified from using the financial test if its financial statements prepared in accordance with GAAP show an operating deficit equal to five percent or more of its total annual revenue for each of the past two years.

Adverse or Qualified Auditor's Opinion

A local government is also disqualified from using the financial test if an audit of its most recent financial statement (prepared in accordance with GAAP) receives an adverse opinion, disclaimer of opinion, or other qualified opinion. On a case-by-case basis, the Director may allow the use of the test when the qualification is insufficient or is not related to the financial status of the local government.

Disclosure

Utah law and GAAP require that a local government using the local government test disclose the liability that is incurred on the annual financial report. This disclosure should show the estimated closure and post-closure costs as shown in the permit application and must be updated annually.

Annual Update and Reporting

As with all other financial assurance methods a local government using the local government test must update the cost estimates for closure and post-closure care annually. After the costs have been updated the local government must demonstrate that it meets the local government test with the new costs included. Because the local government test is a test of the current ability of the local government to pay closure and post-closure costs from current revenue, the local government must demonstrate that it meets the requirements of the test each year.

As part of the annual report due on March 1st of each year the local government must submit all information required to prove qualification for the test, using the updated cost estimate. This qualification must be done even if the current year's cost estimate has been reduced from last year's. The submittal must include all information required in the original submittal and can not refer to documents submitted in previous years.

Local Government Guarantee

Utah solid waste rule, UAC R315-309-8(7), allows a local government which owns or operates a solid waste facility to meet the financial responsibility requirements for the facility using the guarantee provided by another local government (the guarantor). Guarantees, like other third-party mechanisms, such as letters of credit or surety bonds, ensure that a third party is obligated to cover the costs of closure, post-closure care, or corrective action in the event that the owner or operator fails to conduct the required activities. At the same time, a guarantee is an attractive compliance option because guarantees are generally much less expensive than other third-party mechanisms.

To comply with the requirements of the local government guarantee, the owner or operator must submit to the Director a certified copy of the guarantee contract and copies of all financial test documentation that is required of the guarantor as specified in the local government financial test. The terms of the guarantee contract must specify that, if the owner or operator fails to perform closure, post-closure care, or corrective action in accordance with the requirements of the solid waste rules, and the permit the guarantor will either:

- carry out those activities or pay the costs of having them conducted by a third party (performance guarantee), or
- fund a trust to pay the costs of the activities (payment guarantee).

The required documentation must be submitted and approved, in the case of closure and post-closure care, prior to the initial receipt of waste or on the date required in the permit, or in the case of corrective action, no later than 120 days following selection of a corrective action remedy. The financial test documentation from the guarantor must be updated annually, in accordance with the requirements of the local government financial test and submitted with the annual report.

Guarantors must meet the conditions of the local government financial test and do so each year as required in the local government test. Only another local government within the state may be a guarantor under the local government test. The documentation required of the guarantor is the same as that required of a local government financial test user.

Utah solid waste rules require that guarantors agree to remain bound under this guarantee for so long as the owner or operator must comply with the applicable financial assurance requirements. Guarantors may, however, initiate cancellation of the guarantee by sending notice to the Director and to the owner or operator. The rule provides that such cancellation cannot become effective earlier than 120 days after receipt of such notice by both the Director and the owner or operator and establishment of another financial assurance method that has been approved by the Director. If an alternative financial assurance method is not in place the guarantor continues to be responsible for the costs assured under the guaranty.

Corporate Financial Test

Utah rules allow the use of a financial test to assure that a firm is capable of covering the cost of closure and post-closure care for landfills operated by the company. The test is not assuring that the money is available for closure but that the company has the financial strength to cover the costs at the time of closure.

The corporate test, as found in (UAC) R315-309-9, has several requirements. These are a bond rating or financial ratio requirement, a domestic asset requirement, a chief financial officer letter, and an accountant's opinion. Under some conditions a special report from the firm's independent certified public accountant may be required.

The following discussion of each area of the corporate financial test is intended to help applicants for solid waste permits meet the requirements of the rules. It is intended as guidance and does not take the place to the rule. Anyone intending to use the corporate financial test should refer to UAC R315-309-9 and must meet the requirements found in this rule.

The rule has two general components, the financial component and the record keeping/reporting component. The financial component consists of the minimum tangible net worth, the bond rating or ratios test, and the domestic assets requirement. The record keeping/reporting component consists of the chief financial officer letter, accountant's opinion, special report and the annual update

Minimum Tangible Net Worth

The Utah solid waste rule requires firms using the financial test to have a tangible net worth at least equal to the sum of the costs they seek to assure through a financial test plus $10 million. Tangible net worth means the tangible assets that remain after deducting liabilities. Tangible assets do not include intangibles such as goodwill or rights to patents and royalties.

A firm that has already recognized all of its environmental obligations as liabilities on its financial statements may utilize the financial test so long as it has a minimum tangible net worth of $10 million and meets all of the other components of the test.

A firm seeking to use the corporate financial test must include cost estimates for all environmental obligations that it assures through a financial test when demonstrating that it meets the $10 million net worth requirement. Examples of other environmental obligations that must be included are those related to underground injection control facilities, petroleum underground storage tank facilities PCB storage facilities and hazardous waste treatment, storage and disposal facilities. To meet the test requirements a firm would have to have a tangible net worth of $10 million plus the total of all the cost for environmental liabilities assured through a test and not already recognized on its financial statements.

Financial Tests

To use the financial test a firm must meet the requirements of a minimum bond rating or satisfy a financial ratio requirement. A firm need not meet both the bond rating requirement and the ratio requirement.

The bond rating requirement is found in R315-309-9(2)(a). The rule requires that the firm have an unsecured investment grade bond rating rated by either Moody's or Standard & Poor's.

- The rating by Mood's must be Aaa, Aa, A or Baa.
- The Standard & Poor's rating must be AAA, AA, A, or BBB.

Collateralized bonds can receive a rating that is not indicative of the overall strength of the firm that issues it, but rather of the collateral backing it. Utah solid waste rules disallow the use of ratings based on collateralized bonds. Although not used frequently by corporations, insured bond ratings may not be used for financial assurance under Utah solid waste rules.

The use of senior unsecured debt is also required by Utah solid waste rules. A firm may have ratings on several types of debt with some having a rating higher than that on senior debt. However the rating on senior debt is the most indicative of the financial status of the firm and is the rating required by Utah solid waste rules.

If a firm does not have a bond rating; the rating is for secured bonds; or the firm does not wish, for any reason, to use the bond rating test, the firm may use the ratio test. However, a firm that has a rating for senior unsecured debt that is below the rating allowed by Utah rules may not use the ratio test to qualify for the corporate test even if the firm can meet the ratio requirements. To use the ratio test the firm must meet the minimum requirement for one of the two ratios allowed. A firm using the ratio test does not have to meet both ratios. These ratios, as found in UAC R315-309-9(2)(a)(ii)&(iii)

- The firm must have a debt-to-equity ratio of less than 1.5 based on the ratio of total liabilities to net worth, or
- the firm must have a profitability ratio of greater than 0.10 based on the ratio of the sum of net income plus depreciation, depletion, and amortization, minus $10 million, to total liabilities.

Assets Requirement

Utah solid waste rules require that any firm wishing to use the financial test have assets within the United States at least equal to the costs that the firm is seeking to assure. The rule does not require the assets to be within Utah. The domestic asset requirement is intended to ensure that the state will have access to funds in the event of bankruptcy of the firm.

Chief Financial Officer's Letter

A firm wishing to use the corporate financial test must first have a closure and post-closure cost estimate that is based on the cost of these activities as conducted by an independent third party. Once these costs are calculated, the firm establishes that it can meet one of the three financial tests and that it meets the domestic asset requirement. The chief financial officer (CFO) of the firm must submit a letter to the Director stating that the firm has complied with the criteria of the test. Specifically, the letter must list all cost estimates for all environmental obligations covered by a financial test, and provide evidence demonstrating that the firm satisfies the financial criteria of the test including:

- minimum tangible net worth,
- bond rating, debt-to-equity ratio or profitability ratio, and
- domestic asset requirement.

Accountant's Opinion

Utah solid waste rules require that the firm submit, to the Director, the opinion from the independent certified public accountant of the firm's financial statements for the latest completed fiscal year. This opinion must be an unqualified opinion from the accountant demonstrating that the firm has prepared its financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Generally, an adverse opinion, disclaimer of opinion, or any qualification in the opinion would disqualify the firm from using the corporate financial test. However, the Director may evaluate qualified opinions on a case-by-case basis, and accept such opinions if the matters which form the basis for the qualified opinion are insufficient to warrant disallowance of the test.

Special Report from the Independent Certified Public Accountant

A firm wishing to use the corporate financial test may be required to submit, to the Director, a special report from an independent certified public accountant. This special report is required to confirm the data used in the chief financial officer's letter, to pass the financial ratio test, were appropriately derived from the audited, year-end financial statements or any other audited financial statements filed with the Securities & Exchange Commission. This report would not be required if the CFO uses financial test figures directly from the audited yearend financial statements or any other audited financial statements filled with the Securities & Exchange Commission or if the bond rating is used. However, this report is required if the CFO letter uses data that are derived from and are not identical to the data in the audited annual financial statement or other audited financial statements submitted to the Securities & Exchange Commission.

A special report from an independent certified public accountant is required when a firm proposes to meet the tangible net worth requirement on the basis of having recognized all of the environmental obligations covered by a financial test as liabilities in the audited financial statements. The report should assure that these liabilities have been recognized and that at least $10 million in tangible net worth remains after any guarantees have been extended.

Annual Update

As with all other financial assurance methods a firm using the corporate financial test must update the cost estimates for closure and post-closure care annually. After the costs have been updated the firm must demonstrate that it meets the corporate financial test with the new costs included. Because the corporate financial test is a test of the current ability of the owner or operator of a landfill to pay closure and post closure costs from current revenue the firm must qualify each year.

As part of the annual report, due on March 1st of each year, the firm must submit all information required to prove qualification for the test, using the updated cost estimate. This qualification must be done even if the current year's cost estimate has been reduced from last year's. The qualification submittal must include all information required in the original submittal and can not refer to documents submitted in previous years.

Corporate Guarantee

Utah solid waste rule, UAC R315-309-9(6), allows a solid waste facility owner or operator to meet the financial responsibility requirements for their landfill using the guarantee provided by another private firm (the guarantor). Guarantees, like other third-party mechanisms, such as letters of credit or surety bonds, ensure that a third party is obligated to cover the costs of closure, post-closure care, or corrective action in the event that the owner or operator goes bankrupt or fails to conduct the required activities. At the same time, a guarantee is an attractive compliance option for owners and operators because guarantees are generally much less expensive than other third-party mechanisms.

To comply with the requirements of the corporate guarantee, the owner or operator must submit to the Director a certified copy of the guarantee contract and copies of all financial test documentation that is required of the guarantor as specified in the corporate financial test requirements. A sample of a corporate guarantee can be found in Exhibit E. The terms of the guarantee contract must specify that, if the owner or operator fails to perform closure, post-closure care, or corrective action in accordance with the requirements of the solid waste rules and the permit, the guarantor will either:

- carry out those activities or pay the costs of having them conducted by a third party (performance guarantee), or
- fund a trust to pay the costs of the activities (payment guarantee).

The required documentation must be submitted and approved, in the case of closure and post-closure care, prior to the initial receipt of waste or on the date required by the permit, or in the case of corrective action, no later than 120 days following selection of a corrective action remedy. The financial test documentation from the guarantor must be updated annually, in accordance with the requirements of the corporate financial test and submitted with the annual report.

The rule allows three types of qualified guarantors:

- The parent corporation or principal shareholder of the owner or operator (i.e., a corporate parent or grandparent),
- a firm whose parent company is also the parent company of the owner or operator (a corporate sibling), or
- other related and non-related firms with a "substantial business relationship" with the owner or operator (including subsidiaries of the owner or operator).

Guarantors must meet the conditions of the corporate financial test and do so each year as required in the test.

The documentation required of the guarantor is the same as that required of a corporate financial test user with either one or two additional requirements depending upon the relationship of the guarantor to the owner or operator. First, for all users of the guarantee, the letter from the guarantor's chief financial officer must describe the value received in consideration of the guarantee. Second, in cases where the guarantor is not a corporate parent, grandparent, or sibling, the letter from the chief financial officer also must address the "substantial business relationship" that exists between the owner or operator and the guarantor. In particular, if the guarantor is a firm with "a substantial business relationship," the letter must describe the relationship and the consideration received from the owner or operator in exchange for the guarantee, which are necessary to ensure that the contract is valid and enforceable.

"Substantial business relationship" is defined in the federal hazardous waste rules as "the extent of a business relationship necessary under applicable state law to make a guarantee contract issued incident to that relationship valid and enforceable." The federal definition may provide some assistance in deciding what a valid relationship is but no single legal definition exists of what constitutes a business relationship between two firms that would justify upholding a guarantee between them.

State solid waste rules require that guarantors agree to remain bound under this guarantee for so long as the owner or operator must comply with the applicable financial assurance requirements. Guarantors may, however, initiate cancellation of the guarantee by sending notice to the Director and to the owner or operator. The rule provides that such cancellation cannot become effective earlier than 120 days after receipt of such notice by both the Director and only if the owner or operator has established another financial assurance method. If an alternative financial assurance method is not in place the guarantor continues to be responsible for the costs assured under the guaranty.

Other Financial Assurance Mechanisms

Financial assurance mechanisms other than those listed in the solid waste rules may be approved by the Director. The criteria that the financial mechanism would need to meet are the following:

- Ensure that the amount of funds assured is sufficient to cover the costs of closure, post-closure care, and corrective action for known releases when needed;
- Ensure that funds will be available in a timely fashion when needed;
- Guarantee the availability of the required amount of coverage from the effective date of the requirements under the solid waste rules, or prior to the initial receipt of waste, whichever is later, in the case of closure and post-closure care, and no later than 120 days after the corrective action remedy has been selected and continue until the owner or operator is released from financial assurance requirements; and

- Be legally valid, binding, and enforceable under State law.

Combined Financial Assurance Mechanisms

Utah solid waste rules, in most cases, allow the use of more than one financial assurance mechanism by the owner or operator of a disposal facility. Use of combined mechanisms must be approved by the Director and the total assurance must be sufficient to meet the closure and post-closure care requirements. The corporate financial test and the local government financial test cannot be used in combination with other tests. The local government test may not be used when a local government has closure and post-closure care liabilities greater than 43% of its annual revenue. In the case of a local government that has environmental obligations that exceed 43% of its annual revenue it may use another financial assurance mechanism to cover the costs over the 43% limit.

Whereas said Principal is required, under the appropriate program area, to comply with permit requirements in order to own or operate each facility identified above, and

Whereas said Principal is required to provide financial assurance for closure, post closure, or corrective action as a condition of the permit or other applicable requirements, and

Now, therefore, the conditions of this obligation are such that if the Principal shall faithfully perform closure, post closure, or corrective action, whenever required to do so, of each facility for which this bond guarantees closure or post closure in accordance with the closure plan or post closure plan and other applicable requirements of the permit, or perform corrective action in accordance with the permit or other applicable requirements as may be amended, pursuant to all applicable laws, statutes, rules and regulations, as such laws, statutes, rules, and regulations may be amended,

Or, if the Principal shall provide alternate financial assurance, as specified in UAC R315-309 (relating to Financial Assurance) and obtain the Director's written approval of such assurance, within 120 days after the date of notice of cancellation is received by both the Principal and the Director from the Surety(ies), then this obligation shall be null and void, otherwise it is to remain in full force and effect.

Upon notification by the Director that the Principal has failed to provide alternate financial assurance, as specified in UAC R315-309, and obtain written approval of such assurance from the Director during the 120 days following receipt by both the Principal and the Director of a notice of cancellation of the bond, the Surety(ies) shall place funds in the amount guaranteed for the facility(ies) into a trust fund established by the Surety and approved by the Director.

The surety(ies) hereby waive(s) notification of amendments to closure plans or post closure plans and other applicable requirements of the permit, or permits requiring corrective action or other applicable requirements for corrective action, applicable laws, statutes, rules, and regulations and agrees that no such amendment shall in any way alleviate its (their) obligation on this bond.

The liability of the Surety(ies) shall not be discharged by any payment or succession of payments hereunder, unless and until such payment or payments shall amount in the aggregate to the penal sum of the bond, but in no event shall the obligation of the Surety(ies) hereunder exceed the amount of said penal sum.

The Surety(ies) may cancel the bond by sending notice of cancellation by certified mail to the owner and operator and to the Director provided, however, that cancellation shall not occur during the 120 days beginning on the date of receipt of the notice of cancellation by both the Principal and the Director, as evidenced by the return receipts.

The principal may terminate this bond by sending written notice to the Surety(ies), provided, however, that no such notice shall become effective until the Surety(ies) receive(s) written authorization for termination of the bond by the Director.

Principal and Surety(ies) hereby agree to adjust the penal sum of the bond yearly so that it guarantees a new closure, post closure, or corrective action amount, provided that the penal sum does not increase by more than 20 percent in any one year, and no decrease in the penal sum takes place without the written permission of the Director.

Section 11. Advice of Counsel. The TRUSTEE may from time to time consult with counsel, who may be counsel to the GRANTOR, with respect to any question arising as to the construction of this AGREEMENT or any action to be taken hereunder.
