BACKGROUND

The Canyon Fuel Company's Soldier Canyon Mine (Mine) is an inactive underground coal mine facility with Standard Industrial Classification Code 1222, for bituminous underground coal mining operations. The Mine facility is located approximately 12 miles northeast of Wellington, Utah in Soldier Canyon off Nine Mile Canyon Road. The Mine has been idled with temporarily sealed portals for approximately 20 years and with no in-mine water treatment units (sumps w/pump stations) currently active as well. The surface facilities have been used on a limited basis in support of the nearby Canyon Fuel Company's Dugout Canyon Mine. Currently, the only potential for a discharge is from Outfall 002 at the surface sedimentation pond, which could discharge if there was enough runoff from precipitation events. The last discharge of any kind from the Mine resulted from large storm events discharging via Outfall 002 in September of 2013. Otherwise there has been no discharges from any Outfall over the last 5-year permit period or since 2013. It is not known if and when the mine will be re-activated, but Mine officials desire continuation of the UPDES permit so that if the Mine is re-activated in the next five years it can discharge without delay. Changes from the previous permit include the removal of stormwater provisions and secondary treatment standards which no longer apply. See the Fact Sheet Statement of Basis for more information.
